

6. The Selfish Giant

Worksheet 1

COMPREHENSION

There was once a very old man, whose eyes had become dim, his ears dull of hearing, his knees trembled, and when he sat on table, he could hardly hold the spoon, and spilt the broth upon the tablecloth or let it run out of his mouth. His son and his son's wife were disgusted at this, so, the old grandfather at last had to sit in the corner behind the stove, and they gave him his food in an earthenware bowl, and not even enough of it. And he used to look towards the table with his eyes full of tears. Once, too, his trembling hands could not hold the bowl, and it fell to the ground and broke. The young wife scolded him, but he said nothing and only sighed. Then, they brought him a wooden bowl for a few half-pence out of which he had to eat.

They were once sitting thus when the little grandson of four years old began to gather some bits of wood upon the ground. "What are you doing there?" asked the father. "I am making a little trough," answered the child, "for father and mother to eat out of when I grow up."

The man and wife looked at each other for a while, and presently began to cry. Then, they took the old grandfather to the table, and henceforth always let him eat with them, and likewise said nothing if he did spill a little of anything.
